

Andrea Grifoni

Andrea Grifoni is a Policy Analyst in the Consumer Finance, Insurance and Pensions Division at the OECD. He is responsible for the development of the project funded by the European Commission to develop a national financial literacy strategy for Greece. He is a member of the Secretariat of the OECD International Network on Financial Education (INFE), and coordinates the activities of the OECD/INFE in Latin America and the Caribbean. While at the OECD he also contributed to projects on financial consumer protection supervision, public sector reform and to the accession of Colombia to the Organisation. Prior to joining the OECD he worked in London in the analysis of EU capital markets regulation and in Brussels in EU Common Security and Defence Policy; he holds an MSc in International Political Economy from the London School of Economics, and completed his undergraduate studies at the University of Bologna and Sciences Po Paris.